Summary

I am a passionate Web Developer and a final-year college student with a strong interest in building modern web applications. I recently completed a 3-Month Web Developer Internship at Innomatrix Technologies, where I gained practical experience in web development, project implementation, testing, and documentation. I enjoy learning new technologies and improving my development skills. I have worked on projects using HTML, CSS, JavaScript, React, Node.js, and MongoDB (MERN Stack). My goal is to grow as a full-stack developer and build scalable, user-friendly applications that solve real-world problems.
